

Setting up your myCCO Portal Account

Effective December 1, 2022, Crane Wise Certifications can no longer register new applicants in the NCCCO system. Applicants that do not already have an active Candidate ID will be required to register in the myCCO Portal in order to be assigned an ID number. Without a Candidate ID, Crane Wise cannot register applicants for any written or practical exams.

Applicants that already have a Candidate ID number (different from the NCCCO Certification number on your card) are also required to register in the myCCO Portal and verify their profile. Through this portal, you will be able to provide/update your contact information, apply for CCO exams, and see recent exam results and current certifications.

Please note: Crane Wise Certifications will still register all applicants attending our classes for their tests. Applicants are not required to register or pay for their own test fees, only to create an account and provide Crane Wise with their Candidate ID.

Previous myCCO Mobile App Users

Any candidates who created an account with the previous version of myCCO (through the mobile app) will be required to sign in and verify their email address so that they can take advantage of all the new features of myCCO. The mobile app version will still be available, but its functionality will be limited.

How to Register

Registering is quick and easy. Go to NCCCO.org on a computer or in an internet app and click on the button in the upper right-hand corner, myCCO Login/Registration.

- If you have previously created an account in the myCCO app, login using the same credentials.
- If you have never registered with NCCCO and do not have a candidate ID number, you will register and create a new account. It is recommended to use a personal email (not a work email) since this will be associated with your NCCCO certification permanently.

Once logged in, you will need to verify or enter your personal information such as personal mailing address and phone number. Company information is not required.

On the main screen of the portal, to the right of your name is where you will see your CCO ID which is the candidate ID number that Crane Wise will need in order to register you for written and practical exams. Again, this number is different from your certification number that appears on your NCCCO Certification card.

Please provide this number in the designated space on your Enrollment Agreement or Practical Application.
